

Cinnamon Grand - Best Five Star City Hotel for the second time

For the second consecutive year, Cinnamon Grand Colombo was presented the highly coveted and prestigious award for the Best Five Star City Hotel at the recent Presidential Awards for Travel and Tourism 2008. The significant expansion and booming popularity of a three year old brand paid considerable dividends through the recognition of its ever increasing standards of hospitality, service and cuisine.

“While we celebrate this award today, we are already looking forward to tomorrow,” said General Manager Rohan Karr. “We assured our customers that we would not rest on our laurels following our success last year at the Presidential Awards, and we continue to strive towards our long term vision.”

The award is made all the more momentous by the sheer quality of Cinnamon Grand Colombo’s competition, matching an indigenous brand against internationally renowned hotel chains. Through this emphatic repeat win, the Cinnamon Grand has solidified its position as Sri Lanka’s revolutionary hotel brand with a strong focus on innovative features, products and services that always stay true to its powerful theme of ‘indulgence for all ages’.

Since its inception, the Cinnamon Grand Colombo has amassed a multi talented team of associates who endeavor daily to further its success and guard its position as market leader. Training at the Grand is a primary focus, emphasizing the growth of the employees that make the hotel what it is today: an exemplary venue that dares to think differently and believes in indulgence above all.

GM Rohan Karr receiving the coveted award from Prime Minister Ratnasiri Wickremanayake.

GM Rohan Karr with some of the hotel's Senior Managers - Chris, Dunstan, Terrence and Tharika at the awards ceremony.

The Jubilant Cinnamon Grand Staff celebrating.

The Jubilant Cinnamon Grand Staff celebrating.